An adrenaline filled valentine's day?!

Flowers, a romantic movie and candlelight dinner? Or do you want something just a little more exciting for this year's Valentine's? For every racing enthusiast who wants to surprise his or her partner with a more exciting and exclusive option, Wheels after Work launches 'Couples on Track'. During this day a personal driver picks you up at home, drives you around in your own car and will return you both home safely. After your car control & drift session under the supervision of skilled coaches, he drives you to a romantic restaurant to end the day in style. A unique experience that combines romance and improves your driving at the same time. The reflexes taught by our coaches might even be used in daily life when needed to ensure the safety of your loved ones.

What can you expect?

- Your own private driver to pick you up and drive you to the destinations in your own car. Meanwhile you can relax and enjoy a drink.
- Car control & drift training session in a real track car at the Centre de maîtrise du volant
